

Travis and Lisa Fuzak (Vanden Boogart)
June, 2012, Witness Letter

We both decided to give CatholicMatch.com a try during the summer of 2010. Having never explored the world of online dating, we were quite apprehensive about the entire process. Feelings of doubt were definitely present; however, we still decided to use CatholicMatch primarily because we loved that the site was faith-based. The proof is right there in its name! Looking for a lifelong companion and a serious, long-term relationship, we created profiles and left the rest in God's hands.

CatholicMatch.com was the superior choice for us because, when you create your profile on this site, you get to answer questions about important moral issues. Not having used other dating websites, we are speaking with some bias when we say we don't think other sites could possibly compare. We liked this one because of the emphasis put on Catholic doctrine, faith and morals.

Being Catholic is very important to both of us—it's an integral part of our lives and how we live them. Finding someone with similar morals and expectations was so very important to us that we knew we couldn't leave it in anyone's care but God's. Choosing CatholicMatch.com was an extreme leap of faith for both of us, but taking that leap is so much easier when you're willing to follow God's will.

Recently, we heard a phrase that has been "stuck" in our minds, which sums up the need for God in one's life. It goes, "Life without God is like an unsharpened pencil—it has no point!" Keeping God in the center of our relationship is the only way to ensure it will endure in an entirely faithful, fruitful and free way.

We would encourage anyone who is serious about finding a person of faith to join you on life's journey to give CatholicMatch.com a try. Sign up and see what God has planned for you. We couldn't be happier with our choice to trust in the Lord. We are pleased to say that we are now married, as of last Saturday, June 16, 2012! May God bless you.
